INTREPID ALCHEMIST

More than 20 photographs from the Bucks County series by master photographer Diane Levell.

These never before exhibited photographs transform the familiar into the magical. Printed on Japanese rice paper, the viewer will be impressed by the craftsmanship and poetic beauty of each photograph.

THE ART OF SEATING: TWO HUNDRED YEARS OF AMERICAN DESIGN

A survey of exceptional American chair design from the early 19th century to the present day. The chair is experienced not only as a functional item, but as sculptural in view—the chair as art. Each of the more than 40 chairs in the exhibition was chosen for its beauty and historical context.

We are our own worst Critics

Give yourself credit for what's working. Don't get stuck on what isn't working. Don't cling to the familiar but allow yourself the freedom to explore new ideas.

"Success is all about having the confidence to shoot for something even if it seems impossible."

The President's Corner

Hello Everyone!

We are delighted to have you join us for our Members' Show. What a wonderful opportunity to view the artistic talents of our BMAL members. The level of expertise is really impressive. All of you should celebrate yourselves as fine artists.

Without a doubt, our judge will find it very hard to pick prize winners with such an array of fine paintings and photographs.

Cudos to Kathy Sekula for chairing this event and to all members that volunteered to help. We thank all of you for making our evening enjoyable with delightful snacks. That is really appreciated.

Tonight we will present the proposed BMAL board for 2019-2020. Any additions to the ballot will be accepted until May 7. Voting and installation will take place at the May meeting. These members are to be appreciated for their contribution of time on behalf of BMAL.

Enjoy the show!
Susan and Dawn

Tonight's show judge is Janine Dunn Wade

Painting mostly with pastels and more recently in oils, much of Janine Wade's work depicts the bucolic landscape of Bucks County. She says, "To capture forever joy, exuberance, beauty, and life's quiet moments amid the chaos is my ultimate goal in painting. I hope my paintings allow the viewer to connect his soul with a moment and place in time."

Janine has studied art in France, Italy and Mexico and is the recipient of many awards. Her work has been seen in many juried exhibitions including, The Philips Mill, The Woodmere Art Museum, The Lambertville Historical Society Annual Exhibition, and the Philadelphia Sketch Club. Janine has exhibited in solo and group shows throughout Pennsylvania and New Jersey. She will have a solo show in June at the Patricia Hutton Galleries in Doylestown. Janine's work can be found in many private collections both nationally and internationally.
